SHGC organized International Conference on the Role of NEP in Reviving Ancient Indian Knowledge System

In the concluding session, Dr. S.K. Jain, the Vice-Chancellor of Barkatullah University, Bhopal, was present as the chief guest. In his address, he spoke to the students about Indian Knowledge, Archaeology, Ancient Traditions, and their significance in today's scientific environment. He emphasized how these traditions can be integrated with modern scientific thinking. Furthermore, he stated that we should take pride in being Indian, as we have a unique cultural identity. He also highlighted the importance of taking pride in one's mother tongue.

He noted that after 2020, the directions of society and family have become somewhat blurred. The primary objective of Indian knowledge is 'Sarve Bhavantu Sukhinah'—meaning "May all be happy," which is the core sentiment of our tradition. True Indian culture teaches us to find joy in others' happiness and share their sorrow. Living a disciplined life is the essence of Indian knowledge and tradition. True Indian culture teaches us to find joy in others' happiness and share their sorrow. Living a disciplined life is the essence of Indian knowledge and tradition. In today's changing times, it is essential to adopt a scientific approach while staying rooted in our heritage. "Atithi Devo Bhava" (The guest is God) is an integral part of our tradition.

The conference included discussions on four technical sessions covering topics such as Ancient Indian Science and Technological Innovations, Commerce, Management, and Ancient Indian Economic Thought, Education Policy and Curriculum Reforms, and Subjects related to Arts, Culture, Humanities, and Linguistic Heritage.

At the end of the ceremony, the chief guest unveiled the conference souvenir and announced the Best Paper Presenter Award, which was conferred upon Shiksha Tiwari, Deepshikha Lalwani, Tasneem Saif, and Himanshi Lalwani in four different Technical Sessions.

This conference proved to be an effective platform for integrating educational policies with ancient Indian knowledge traditions.
